GOLD RIDGE (SOLOMON ISLANDS)

Official re-opening ceremony held with Government and Community Leaders

Production ramp-up of 120,000 ozpa gold mine continues

TORONTO, ONTARIO -- (Marketwire - March 23, 2011) - Allied Gold Limited (TSX: ALG) (AIM: AGLD) (ASX: ALD) yesterday held an official re-opening ceremony at its 100%-owned 120,000ozpa Gold Ridge gold mine on Guadalcanal in the Solomon Islands with local political, community and landowner leaders.

First gold was poured two weeks ago and commissioning activities will continue as ramp up to full scale production occurs over the next several months.

Comment by Executive Chairman Mark Caruso:

"A year ago at a ceremony to mark the start of redevelopment, Allied Gold undertook to the people of the Solomon Islands and to our shareholder to rebuild and refurbish Gold Ridge. One hundred and fifty million dollars later, we have delivered ahead of time and on budget with no fatality or serious injury to any of our employees," he said.

"Most importantly we honoured our agreements and commitments including providing local jobs and we hope our success in redeveloping Gold Ridge will help restore the reputation of the Solomons and send a clear message to the international Investment world that the Solomon Islands is open for business and welcomes and supports investments in the mining industry.

"The challenge for us all now is to build on the momentum of this positive start. With the success and new wealth that will be created comes responsibility to manage and invest wisely for the next generation and that must now be the focus for the Solomons," he said.

Gold Ridge is expected to account for a quarter of the Solomon's gross national product. Gold Ridge employs approximately 600 people in mining and operational roles with 85% drawn from the Solomons.

Allied Gold acquired Gold Ridge in 2009-10 through the takeover of Toronto-listed Australian Solomons Gold. Allied also operates the Simberi gold mine in Papua New Guinea.
