

Jameson Stanford Announces Appointment of Corporate Development Executive

02.10.2013 | Marketwired

LAS VEGAS, Oct 2, 2013 - Jameson Stanford Resources Corp. (OTCQB: JMSN) (the "Company"), an emerging metals and minerals exploration and development company, announced that it has appointed Michael Christiansen as Executive Vice President, Corporate Development. His responsibilities include capital markets, investor relations and corporate administration. Christiansen previously served as Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer with the Company and Bolcàn Mining Corporation prior to the October 2012 merger. Prior to joining the Company, Christiansen was Managing Director at WestPark Capital where he served in the corporate finance group from 2007 to 2012.

Christiansen has more than 15 years of investment banking experience, having served previously with Prudential Securities from 1997 to 2001, and with Seidler Amdec Securities and Laffer Associates from 1986 to 1992. Christiansen also served as executive vice president and chief financial officer of Vizional Technologies, Inc. from 2002 through 2006, and as executive vice president and chief financial officer of PortaCom Wireless, Inc. from 1994 to 1996.

Michael Stanford, CEO of Jameson Stanford, commented, "We are pleased that Michael Christiansen has re-joined our management team, and we look forward to his leadership in securing additional capital necessary to expand the Company's minerals exploration and discovery program."

About Jameson Stanford Resources Corp.

Jameson Stanford Resources is focused on developing significant mining claims, mineral leases and excavation rights for projects located in historic mining districts and other sites in central and southwestern Utah. The Company is presently engaged in mineral exploration activities in connection with copper, gold, silver and base metals properties located in historic mining districts in Beaver County and Juab County, Utah. In addition, Jameson Stanford Resources has acquired excavation rights and special permitting related to deposits of alluvial minerals and silica sand located in Weber County, Utah.

Safe Harbor Forward-Looking Statements

In connection with the safe harbor provisions of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995, Jameson Stanford Resources Corporation, is hereby providing cautionary statements identifying important factors that could cause our actual results to differ materially from those projected in forward-looking statements (as defined in such act). Any statements that are not historical facts and that express, or involve discussions as to, expectations, beliefs, plans, objectives, assumptions or future events or performance (often, but not always, indicated through the use of words or phrases such as "will likely result," "are expected to," "will continue," "is anticipated," "estimated," "intends," "plans," "believes" and "projects") may be forward-looking and may involve estimates and uncertainties which could cause actual results to differ materially from those expressed in the forward-looking statements. These statements include, but are not limited to, our expectations concerning the presence of minerals and our ability to mine and process minerals commercially at a profit.

We caution that the factors described herein could cause actual results to differ materially from those expressed in any forward-looking statements we make and that investors should not place undue reliance on any such forward-looking statements. Further, any forward-looking statement speaks only as of the date on which such statement is made, and we undertake no obligation to update any forward-looking statement to reflect events or circumstances after the date on which such statement is made or to reflect the occurrence of anticipated or unanticipated events or circumstances. New factors emerge from time to time, and it is not possible for us to predict all of such factors. Further, we cannot assess the impact of each such factor on our results of operations or the extent to which any factor, or combination of factors, may cause actual results to differ materially from those contained in any forward-looking statements.
