Carson City, NV, Dec. 1, 2014 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Walker Lane Exploration, Inc. (OTC: WKLN) (formerly, Goldspan Resources, Inc.) stock symbol has been changed to WKLN from GSPND, as of December 1, 2014.

The Corporation had filed a Certificate of Amendment with the Secretary of State of Nevada on September 23, 2014 changing its name from Goldspan Resources, Inc. to Walker Lane Exploration and reversed its issued and outstanding shares on a 1-for-25 basis. After applying to FINRA for the reverse and name change, a new trading symbol was made effective 20 working days later; December 1, 2014. That information was disclosed in a prior press release on October 31, 2014.

Walker Lane Exploration, Inc. is now focusing on its exploration activities within the Walker Lane region of Nevada where it currently owns three mining properties.

Information relating to the Corporation's annual report and subsequent events were released in a prior press release on November 23, 2014. Shareholders should read that release for information pertaining to those results.

About Walker Lane Exploration, Inc.

The Corporation is an early-stage gold and silver exploration company primarily exploring for precious metals with the Walker Lane region of Nevada where the Corporation presently owns three properties; Pyramid, which is located in Washoe County, Nevada, consisting of 10 lode claims leased from the Bureau of Land Management (BLM). West Trinity, which is located in Churchill County, Nevada consisting of 24 lode claims leased from the BLM. And, Paradise Peak West, which is located in Nye County, Nevada, consisting of 9 lode claims leased from the BLM. The Corporation's focus is to identify mineral areas within the Walker Lane region that are open to staking and claiming, or to acquire properties management deems viable for exploration. Once a property has been secured, management conducts an assessment of the prospect for exploration, which can include sampling, trenching and drilling in order to develop the prospect for leasing, sale or joint venture with other mining companies.
