

HOUSTON, TX--(Marketwired - May 31, 2017) - Petrolia Energy Corp.'s (OTCQB: BBLs) insiders, including members of the Board of Directors and Management, have converted $382,700 of short-term working capital loans that were intended to be repaid out of proceeds from the Series A Preferred stock offering to 38,200 shares of preferred stock. As part of the consideration, the Company issued 400,000 warrants to purchase common stock at a strike price of $0.20 per share.

Considering the earlier conversion of Jovian Petroleum Corporation's ("Jovian") debt totaling $2,000,000, insiders including Jovian have converted a total of $2,382,700 to equity. These conversions materially reduce total debt and decrease the debt to equity ratio of the Company to less than 33%. The actual maturing indebtedness of the Company is substantially less considering that the remaining Jovian production payment indebtedness doesn't accrue interest and is only payable out of 20% of the net proceeds the company receives from production at the SUDS field.

Zel Khan, CEO of the Company, remarked, "These conversions clearly demonstrate the commitment and confidence insiders have in the Company."

Details of these transactions will be available in the subsequent 8-K released with the Securities and Exchange Commission and are viewable on our website: www.petroliaenergy.com.
