

El Rollo "Marijuana Growing System" Fabrication Complete

30.10.2018 | The Newswire

October 30, 2018 / TheNewswire / Calgary, Alberta - Cerus Energy Group Ltd. TSX-V: CEA ("Cerus" or "the Company") would like to announce that Aggro Manufacturing Ltd. has completed the fabrication process of its commercial El Rollo growing system. Aggro Manufacturing is a wholly owned subsidiary of Cerus Energy and is focused on the proprietary development of growing and processing systems for Camarico Group Ltd.

The El Rollo growing system will be fitted for 1st Generation lighting and control systems for initial testing operations. Each crop will be tested by a designated licensed producer in a controlled environment for the purpose of process and performance evaluation. The collected data will be used to enhance performance and operating systems for the expanded use within the company's mega development for the industrial cultivation of cannabis. Continued strain development and engineering will take place after initial upgrades have been completed.

R. Mackenzie Loree, Cerus CEO, stated:

"The El Rollo project took longer than expected due to significant upgrades for extended period use for industrial operations. The design team and fabricators have produced a system that has exceeded our expectations of functionality, capacity and dry run performance.

The key to El Rollo's design is the scale of capacity while optimizing its functional efficiencies in cleaning, maintenance, plant loading and harvesting operations. El Rollo is the key to the company's coveted cost of production goal of $0.75 per gram.

We look forward to the testing process and the continued enhancement of the El Rollo growing systems hardware, software and enhanced process integration capabilities."
