VANCOUVER, July 29, 2020 - New Placer Dome Gold Corp. ("New Placer Dome" or the "Company") (TSXV: NGLD) (FSE: BM5) is pleased to announce it has commenced the highly anticipated new discovery drill program of up to 20,000 metres at the Kinsley Mountain Gold project. The Kinsley Mountain drill program is focused on new high-grade discovery targets and on expansion of Secret Canyon shale-hosted mineralization at the Western Flank zone, which hosts a 1.25 million tonne indicated mineral resource containing 265,000 ounces gold grading 6.61 g/t gold (see New Placer Dome Corp. News Release dated May 4, 2020). The Kinsley Mountain Gold project in Nevada, USA is located on trend and 90 km south of the Long Canyon mine operated by Newmont-Goldcorp and 120 km from the Bald Mountain mine operated by Kinross Gold.

Kinsley Mountain is a Carlin-style gold project hosting 418,000 indicated ounces of gold grading 2.63 g/t Au (4.95 million tonnes), and 117,000 inferred ounces of gold averaging 1.51 g/t Au (2.44 million tonnes)¹. The Company believes there is significant upside potential for new high-grade gold discoveries and for expansion of the footprint of known mineralization and contained resources at Kinsley.

Maximilian Sali, CEO and founder comments: "This drill program at Kinsley marks the beginning of what could be a game changer for our company. Since we announced the definitive agreement to acquire Kinsley back in December of 2019 our team could not wait to get the drills turning on this sleeping giant. we are focused on finding high-grade new discoveries in a gold environment never seen before."

Alan Hitchborn, Senior Technical Advisor comments: "As the former chief geologist at the producing Bald Mountain mine located 120 km away from Kinsley, I can say that Kinsley has many of the same geologic attributes as Bald Mountain. I am encouraged by the data I have reviewed thus far. This summer's drill program could unlock the potential for Kinsley to grow significantly in size."
