- Tenth annual program recognizes African-American leaders
- Students encouraged to enter essay contest before February 28th

RICHMOND, Feb. 14, 2022 - Dominion Energy and the Library of Virginia are recognizing the achievements of six African-American leaders as part of the tenth annual "Strong Men & Women in Virginia History" awards. The awards honor prominent African Americans past and present who have made noteworthy and admirable contributions to the commonwealth, the nation, and their professions.

"This year's honorees have dedicated their lives to serving their communities. We are honored to acknowledge their achievements and all they have done to improve the lives of others," said Bill Murray, senior vice president - Corporate Affairs & Communications, Dominion Energy. "Through activism and rising to be leaders in their fields, these six honorees have uplifted and inspired. Their leadership has provided an example for others, and their contributions have left positive and lasting impacts on society."

"The Library of Virginia is proud to partner with Dominion Energy in recognizing the accomplishments of Black Virginians from the past through the present day," said Dr. Sandra G. Treadway, Librarian of Virginia. "This year's honorees join a long list of distinguished men and women who have served the Commonwealth and the nation in important ways, serving as role models for us all -- especially for today's students."

This year's honorees are:

- | | |
|--|--------------------------------------|
| - Christy S. Coleman - Williamsburg | Public Historian |
| - Samuel H. Clark* - Roanoke | Labor Leader |
| - Robert L. Dandridge - Norfolk | Hall of Fame Basketball Player/Coach |
| - Rev. Dr. B.H. Hester* - Fredericksburg | Minister, Civil Rights Activist |
