Sydney, Australia (ABN Newswire) - December 12, 2011 from 4:30PM will offer Investors an array of Key Investments in the Rare Earth and Specialty Metals sectors. REE is quickly gaining 'strategic minerals' status on many of the world's forward looking commodity consumption wish lists.

Minerals rich in Rare Earth elements are key for the development and manufacture of key components in clean energy technologies, automobiles and electronics. They are essential to almost every environmental friendly technology like wind turbines, photovoltaic panels and hybrid motors. It is estimated that all these Rare Earth Dependant Technologies are reliant on Rare Earth materials from China and a limited number of deposits outside of China for their production.

Investorium.tv will once again host a selection of great companies, and well informed Keynote Speakers. The condensed program follows below. The webcast will occur from 4:30PM on December 12th, 2011 live from the Basement in Sydney's Circular Quay.

Thor Mining (LON:THR) - Advanced Tungsten and Molybdenum Projects

Time: 17:10 - 17:30

Thor Mining (ASX:THR) is listed on the Alternative Investment Market (AIM) in London and the Australian Stock Exchange (ASX). Thor is a mineral and development company with an advanced tungsten/molybdenum project poised for development and exciting precious and base metal exploration projects.

Lithex Resources (ASX:LTX) - A Rare Earth and Specialty Metals Company

Time: 17:35 - 17:55

Lithex Resources Limited's (ASX:LTX) tenements near Marble Bar (Moolyella and Shaw River) cover areas which were mined extensively for tin with secondary tantalum and niobium for nearly 100 years. Operations ceased in the mid 1980's due to the collapse in tin prices. Since mid 2000's tin prices have dramatically improved due to increased demand from China and Indonesia, new high-tech uses and constrained supply.

Bell Ringer: Richard Karn - Emerging Rare Earth Trends

Time: 18:00 - 18:20

An astonishing number of today's high tech, aerospace, 'green' and military applications are dependent on material performance specifications that can only be met by the unique characteristics of a variety of precious and specialty metals. The Emerging Trends Report has identified 45 precious and specialty metals, not including gold, that are both critical to these sophisticated applications and experience some form of supply threat that will support these metals' prices going forward, whether from physical scarcity or dissipative use, nationalization risk or byproduct sourcing, a lack substitutes or regular supply interruptions.

Kimberley Rare Earths (ASX:KRE) - Cummins Range Rare Earth Project

Time: 19:00 - 19:20

Kimberley Rare Earths owns 25% of the Cummins Range rare earths project which has a JORC compliant inferred resource of 4.17MT at an average grade of 1.72% TREO together with advanced exploration targets. KRE plans to pursue an aggressive $10m exploration programme over the next two years to increase its equity in the project to 55%. Mr Tim Dobson (Managing Director of Kimberley Rare Earths Ltd.) has over 23 years broad-based experience in a range of ASX-listed and international mining companies including a lead management role commissioning the first nickel laterite operation in Australia at the Centaur Mining's Cawse operation.

Arafura Resources (ASX:ARU) Nolans: A World Class Rare Earths Deposit

Time: 19:25 - 19:45

Arafura is an emerging company with a single project focus - The Nolans Resource. Arafura will be one of the few significant new supply sources likely in the short to medium term, with development of all technology in Australia providing Arafura with independence from the rest of the Rare Earths industry worldwide. Stephen Ward (CEO) has over 30 years experience in the Chemical, mining and minerals processing industries.
