Recent financial results of silver miners have shown that silver prices are having a negative impact on profits. While some miners have seen production rise, revenues have fallen as a result of lower prices. Silver prices have fallen approximately 23 percent from the second quarter of last year. Despite the low prices silver companies appear to be optimistic going forward. Companies such as -- First Majestic and Coeur d'Alene -- have begun share repurchase programs, while others have expanded their portfolios by either acquiring or investing in other companies.
