"We are pleased to have successfully completed our initial drill program at Lac Viot," stated Brian Penney, President and CEO of Ridgemont. "Now that we have received the final set of results, we will complete a full assessment of the property in order to plan the next phase of our exploration program."

The Lac Viot Iron Project is comprised of approximately 114 square kilometres of map staked mineral licenses located in the southern Labrador Trough, Canada's foremost iron ore mining region. Four major mines (Mont-Wright, Carol Lake, Scully and Bloom Lake) are located within 20 km of the project. The project is also within close proximity to a common carrier railway as well as a deep sea port which will provide year round access to the global market.

Complete assay highlights and a drill plan map are posted on the Ridgemont website at: <http://www.ridgemontiron.com/index.php/projects/lac-viot>.

True widths of the reported intercepts above vary depending on the angle of the individual drill holes and are estimated to be between 85% and 100% of the core interval as reported. All samples were prepared from sawn HQ-sized half-core sections on-site in Labrador. Split drill core samples have been sent to independent contractor SGS Minerals Services in Lakefield, ON for analysis. Total iron analysis is performed using X-ray fluorescence (XRF) and the magnetic component is determined by Satmagan magnetic analysis. FeO titration analysis permits an estimation of hematite. Standards, blanks, and duplicate assays are included at regular intervals in each sample batch submitted from the field as part of an ongoing Quality Assurance/Quality Control program.

Further information on the Lac Viot Project can be found in the National Instrument (NI) 43-101 Technical Report titled "Technical Report on the Lac Viot Iron Ore Property, Labrador West, Newfoundland & Labrador" dated March 25, 2012 and filed on SEDAR at www.sedar.com.
