Vancouver, British Columbia - July 21st, 2013 - Pacific Potash Corp. (TSX-V: PP; OTCQX: PPOTF; FSE: P9P, "Pacific Potash", "the Company") is pleased to announce that the Company intends to permit for its initial 6 wells. The targets were selected based on geologic potential, proximity to historic and new potash discoveries and logistical ease of access amongst other factors.

Because of the excellence of Pacific Potash's Management and Advisory team the Company has been able to fast track our exploration efforts. The knowledge, passion and leadership of Mr. Costa have allowed Pacific Potash the ability to save significant time in preparation for drilling. The Company will commence drilling in September.

Mr. Andre Costa P.Geo, President and CEO of Pacific Potash commented: "focused potash drilling in the Basin, has to date been successful in finding deposits on every exploration program done in the Basin. Pacific Potash through careful selection of targets and the vast knowledge of its exploration team intends to continue this success".

Mr. Balbir Johal, Executive Co-Chairman stated: "Pacific Potash is excited about the upcoming drill program. Our plan is scalable up to a six well drill program. We expect drill results before yearend. This is a Company defining moment that may add tremendous value to our bottom line.

The Company will be using a Longyear LF230 drill rig similar to the rig used by Potash Brazil to delineate their world-class resource adjacent to Pacific Potash's claims near the town of Autazes in the Amazon Basin. This rig has been proven effective in drilling the Amazon Basin for potash mineralization.
