Probe Exploration Team, David Palmer, Prospectors Jack Robert and Mike Tremblay Recognized for the Borden Gold Discovery

TORONTO, ONTARIO -- (Marketwired - Nov 7, 2013) - Probe Mines Ltd. (TSX VENTURE:PRB) ("Probe" or the "Company") is pleased to announce that along with prospectors Jack Robert and Mike Tremblay, Dr. David Palmer and the Probe exploration team have been recognized with the "2013 Ontario Prospector Award" for the Borden Gold Discovery, during the recent annual awards ceremony held in Sudbury on November 5, 2013.

"We are honoured to receive this award from the Ontario Prospectors Association for the Borden Gold Project," said David Palmer, President and CEO of Probe Mines. "It is a validation of the dedication and excellent work that the Probe team has done in advancing the Borden Gold Project into one of the premier new gold projects in Ontario. It took the combined vision and work of many people to advance the project to this point. From the prospectors, Jack Robert and Mike Tremblay, who made the initial outcrop discovery; to the entire Probe team, particularly our field team and geologists Craig Yuill and Breanne Beh, who all work tirelessly on the project."

Patrick Reid, Chairman of Probe added, "On behalf of the Board and shareholders of Probe, we would like to offer our congratulations to the entire technical team for this much deserved recognition. With the dwindling number of significant gold discoveries globally, the discovery and evolution of the Borden Gold Project in mining-friendly Ontario will potentially play an important role in the Province's already rich gold mining history."
