Malawi High Commission Request Britannia's Presence at Esteemed Gathering of Commonwealth Nations in London

NEW YORK, NY -- (Marketwired - Oct 31, 2013) - Britannia Mining, Inc. (OTC Pink: BMIN) (BMIN or the Company), the successor of a merger between UK based mining development company Britannia Mining Plc and U.S. based Micron Enviro Systems (Former Symbol: MSVS), announced today that the Company's CEO, Mr. Kenneth Roberts, was amongst the distinguished guests to attend Her Majesty's (Queen Elizabeth II) Commonwealth reception in London, celebrating the "Family of Nations."

"In the interest of forwarding relations between nations, it was an honor to commemorate the spirit of the Commonwealth in the presence of the Royal Family and many World dignitaries," stated Kenneth Roberts, CEO of Britannia Mining. "Having been asked by the Malawi High Commission to attend the reception, Britannia was able to showcase the growing value of its presence in the country."

Traditionally held ahead of the Commonwealth Summit, this year, the Buckingham Palace celebratory event became the host venue to high commissioners and leading individuals from over 50 nations. The British monarch takes the Commonwealth very seriously. The Commonwealth is a remarkable organization, which after 60 years, remains a major force for change in the World today. The summit is more than a meeting of leaders. The Commonwealth plays an important social and political role as a major association of countries.

It contributes to trade negotiations, observes elections in member countries and provides guidance on administrative, judicial and regulatory reform. The Commonwealth is the only organization outside of the United Nations that brings together countries from around the globe and represents approximately one quarter of the World's population.

Mr. Roberts continued, "As a stand for good governance and democracy, the Commonwealth's principles are essential to the growth and protections a rapidly developing resource rich country like Malawi seeks. With Britannia's continued interest in Malawi and the furthering of the Nthale iron ore project, I am pleased to know that our nations are aligned; at the very least, willing to seek the common ground needed for growth and sustainability."

It would appear, from just 11 months ago, when Malawi's newly appointed High Commissioner, His Excellency Bernard H. Sande, requested Britannia's presence to discuss its development in Nthale, Mr. Kenneth Roberts himself, is beginning to grow into a position of international relevance. Management suggests that the greatest benefactors to Mr. Roberts' growing business stature will undoubtedly be Britannia's shareholders.

About Britannia Mining

Britannia Mining is an explorer and developer of mining projects targeting 100 Million Tons (MT) iron at the Nthale project. The company is developing a high grade iron ore project in Malawi and holds an Exclusive Prospecting License (EPL) for iron ore over 650 sq km at Nthale, Blantyre. From magnetic imaging studies that have been completed over 20 sq km, the company has located a number of ore bodies that indicate this area alone could yield upwards of 40 million tons iron ore. The company intends to mobilize a drilling program at Nthale Hill where upon completion and approval by a competent person, the data will provide a resource definition at this area.

Britannia Mining has also inherited the legacy projects (properties, claims, etc) of the former Micron Enviro Systems and now has added to its diversified portfolio a number of gold claims, leases and permits in the Yukon.
