Tony Makuch, President and CEO of Lake Shore Gold, commented: "We reported strong results in the first quarter of 2014 and continued to execute our plan to grow the value of our company. The key drivers include consistently achieving our production and cost targets, increasing our cash position through strong internal cash generation, reducing debt and achieving success advancing our projects and drilling our exploration targets. An important strength of our company is that we are both a producer that generates free cash flow and a leading exploration and growth story in our sector.

2014. Our cash operating costs during the first quarter were better than our target range for the full year, while all-in sustaining costs were at the low end of expected levels. We have increased our cash and bullion, which today stands at close to $50 million, and have repaid around $5.0 million of debt so far this year ($3.7 million during the first quarter). In addition, from a new drill program launched in January, we have already reported encouraging drill results at the Bell Creek Labine Deposit."

Footnotes

- 1. Cash operating costs and cash operating cost per ounce are Non-GAAP measures. In the gold mining industry, cash operating costs and per ounce are common performance measures but do not have any standardized meaning. Cash operating costs are derived from amounts included in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income (Loss) and include mine site operating costs such as mining, processing and administration as well as royalty expenses, but exclude depreciation, depletion and share-based payment expenses and reclamation costs. Cash operating costs per ounce are based on ounces sold and are calculated by dividing cash operating costs by commercial gold ounces sold; US$ cash operating costs per ounce sold are derived from the cash operating costs per ounce sold translated using the average Bank of Canada C$/US$ exchange rate. The Company discloses cash operating costs and per ounce as it believes the measures provide valuable assistance to investors and analysts in evaluating the Company's operational performance and ability to generate cash flow. The most directly comparable measure prepared in accordance with GAAP is total production costs. A reconciliation of cash operating cost per ounce to amounts included in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Loss (Income) for the three months ended March 31, 2014 and 2013 is set out on page 14 of the Company's MD&A filed on SEDAR at www.sedar.com and at www.lsgold.com.*
- 2. All-in sustaining costs and all-in sustaining cost per ounce are Non-GAAP measures. These measures are intended to assist readers in evaluating the total costs of producing gold from current operations. While there are no standardized meanings across the industry for these measures, the Company's definitions conform to the all-in sustaining costs definition as set out by the World Gold Council in its guidance note dated June 27, 2013. The Company defines all-in sustaining costs as the sum of production costs, sustaining capital (capital required to maintain current operations at existing levels), corporate general and administrative expenses, in-mine exploration expenses and reclamation cost accretion related to current operations. All-in sustaining costs exclude growth capital, reclamation cost accretion not related to current operations, interest expense, debt repayment and taxes. The costs included in the calculation of all-in sustaining costs are divided by commercial gold ounces sold; US$ all-in sustaining cost per ounce sold is translated using the average Bank of Canada C$/US$ exchange rate. A reconciliation of all-in sustaining cost per ounce to amounts included in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Loss (Income) for the three months ended March 31, 2014 and 2013 is set out on page 14 of the Company's MD&A filed on SEDAR at www.sedar.com and at www.lsgold.com.*
- 3. Cash earnings from mine operations is a Non-GAAP measure determined by deducting cash operating costs from revenues recognized in the period. The Company discloses cash earnings from mine operations as it believes this measure provides valuable assistance to investors and analysts in evaluating the Company's ability to finance its ongoing business and capital activities. The most directly comparable measure prepared in accordance with GAAP is earnings from mine operations. A reconciliation of cash earnings from mine operations to amounts included in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Loss (Income) for the three months ended March 31, 2014 and 2013 is set out on page 14 of the Company's MD&A filed on SEDAR at www.sedar.com and at www.lsgold.com.*
