Shareholders approved the appointment of McGovern, Hurley, Cunningham LLP as auditors of Forbes Coal until the next annual meeting of shareholders. Disinterested shareholders approved a resolution authorizing the payment of an establishment fee in connection with a convertible loan to Forbes Coal from Resource Capital Fund V L.P. ("RCF"), the payment of interest on the convertible loan and a refinancing of an existing loan with RCF, and the issuance of common shares in the capital of Forbes Coal to RCF in satisfaction of the conversion of the principal amount of an existing bridge loan with RCF, and the establishment fee, interest, and conversion of the principal amount of the proposed convertible loan and refinancing. Disinterested shareholders also approved a resolution authorizing the issuance of warrants to Investec Bank Limited ("Investec"), exercisable for common shares of Forbes Coal.

Shareholders also approved a change of the company's name to "Buffalo Coal Corp.", subject to Toronto Stock Exchange Approval.

Craig Wiggill, on behalf of the board of the Company, stated "the overwhelming support received from the shareholders at the meeting was gratifying and is also one of the last steps of the significant restructuring process that was started in September and is now essentially complete.

This restructuring of the Company will result in a meaningful reduction of costs and has refocused the Company around its existing operating asset base. The board has strong confidence in the new management team which is now entirely based in South Africa, led by Malcolm Campbell as CEO and Sarah Williams as CFO. The final tranche of funds to be received by the Company will soon be applied to new equipment procurement with the first significant item, a new MC430 continuous miner supplied by Sandvik, about to be delivered to Magdalena Colliery.

The removal of a number of legacy issues, the strong support of its principle shareholder, RCF, and the Company's strategic financial partner, Investec, has created a good operating platform for the soon to be newly branded Buffalo Coal Corp. From this platform the Company intends to rebuild its long term sustainability and profitability based around its two operating mines in South Africa while also looking at growth opportunities with synergies to its asset base."
