

Ivernia Announces Resumption of Full Rail Transportation

08.09.2014 | GlobeNewswire

TORONTO, Sept. 7, 2014 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Ivernia Inc. ("Ivernia" or, collectively with its subsidiaries, the "Company") (TSX:IVW) announced that it has resumed full rail transportation shipments following the re-opening of the bridge near the Port of Fremantle to freight traffic on Friday, September 5, 2014. The bridge forms part of the Company's rail transport route for the sale of concentrate and, as previously announced by the Company, had been closed for repairs after incurring damage during a severe storm event in August.

During the bridge closure, the Company maintained mining and milling operations at the mine site and demand for concentrate in the third quarter remains strong. While management continues to assess the impact of the temporary bridge closure on sales and revenues for the third quarter, management believes that its contingency planning has mitigated the impact on those results. The Company has begun the movement of full containers from the Leonora transfer point to Fremantle so that it can maximize shipments as soon as possible to convert stored inventory into sales. 2014 annual sales and production targets are not expected to be impacted by the bridge closure.
