

Durango Acquires Athabasca Uranium Property Adjacent to Nexgen

13.11.2014 | The Newswire

Vancouver, BC / TNW-ACCESSWIRE / November 13, 2014 / Durango Resources Inc. (the "Company" or "Durango") reports that it has acquired a 100% interest in a land position (the "Property") in the emerging southwest portion of the Athabasca Basin in Saskatchewan adjacent to NexGen Energy Ltd. (TSX.V-NXE).

The Property was staked by Marcy Kiesman, the President of Durango in 2013. The property has been transferred to Durango at nil cost and the Company now owns it 100% with no royalty burden. Further details on the Property and the exploration plans for it will be released by the Company in the near future.

Marcy Kiesman, CEO, states, "The Athabasca Basin is the highest-grade uranium district in the world and the province of Saskatchewan is one of the world's best mining jurisdictions so I am pleased that we were able to acquire a property in this area. We believe that the uranium sector is on the verge of breaking out and we want our shareholders to benefit. Additionally, Durango will continue to explore its Decouverte gold / volcanic massive sulphide (VMS) property in Quebec to locate the source of the anomalous gold in till and soil values defined in the past few years. The Decouverte property covers approximately 5,900 hectares covering a 15km strike length and exploration in 2014 has narrowed the search to a more manageable area in the northern part of the property."

The technical information in this news release has been reviewed and approved by Peter Dimmell, P.Geo., (NL, ON, QC), a "Qualified Person" as defined in National Instrument 43-101.
