

VANCOUVER, May 6, 2015 /CNW/ - Capstone Mining Corp. ("Capstone") (TSX: CS) today announced that it has entered into zero-cost collars for 36,000 tonnes of copper production between now and September 30, 2015 (with pricing periods from June 2015 to February 2016) at a minimum of US$2.60 and a maximum of US$3.10 per pound of copper. There was no cost to Capstone to put this protection in place.

"Capstone's strategy is to remain unhedged on our copper production," said Darren Pylot, President and CEO of Capstone. "However, 2015 is a year of significant investment for the future of our company and includes both extending the mine life at Pinto Valley and stripping our Minto North pit upon receipt of the necessary license. This collar ensures we can sustain our operations and complete our growth initiatives while remaining in compliance with our debt covenants, regardless of the copper price for the balance of this year."

"This price protection allows us to fully commit our 2015 capital expenditure budget, while retaining some benefit should the price for copper continue to increase," continued Mr. Pylot. "The collar will run until early 2016, when the significant 2015 growth expenditures will be behind us and our capital returns to normal sustaining levels."

About Capstone Mining Corp.

Capstone Mining Corp. is a Canadian base metals mining company, focused on copper. We are committed to the responsible development of our assets and the environments in which we operate. Our three producing mines are the Pinto Valley copper mine located in Arizona, US, the Cozamin copper-silver mine in Zacatecas State, Mexico and the Minto copper mine in Yukon, Canada. In addition, Capstone has two copper development projects; the large scale 70% owned copper-iron Santo Domingo project in Region III, Chile, in partnership with Korea Resources Corporation, and the 100% owned copper-zinc Kutcho project in British Columbia, Canada, as well as exploration properties in Chile. Using our cash flow and strong balance sheet as a platform, Capstone's strategy is to extend the lives of our current mines with mineral resource and reserve expansions, to advance the Santo Domingo development project, conduct focused exploration and grow through acquisitions in politically stable, mining-friendly regions. We will pace our growth with our financial capacity, ensuring we retain, as a priority, sufficient financial flexibility to meet the requirements of our existing operations and our committed development projects, while maintaining an adequate cushion to deal with market volatility and operating risks inherent in the mining industry. Our headquarters are in Vancouver, Canada and we are listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange (TSX). Further information is available at www.capstonemining.com.
