

CARDIFF ENERGY CORP. / TheNewswire / October 5, 2015 - (the "Company") (TSX-V: "CRS", Frankfurt: "C2Z.F", US Pinksheets: "CRRDF") is pleased to announce that casing of the Clayton #1H has commenced. Cement crew will arrive today and once complete preparations and commencement of 5 days of horizontal drilling will take place.

Although many delays were encountered during the drilling of the Clayton #1H, the Company is excited to have pioneered the first horizontal well in Runnels County, Texas. The Clayton # 1H targets the Gardner Lime. The Gardner Lime is a fractured limestone which is approximately 15 feet thick and comparable geologically to another major field in Texas called the Austin Chalk. The Austin Chalk has had a number of successful horizontal wells, of which some of the more prolific wells have had initial production of 1500 barrels of oil per day (BL/day).

Jack Bal, President and CEO of Cardiff Energy Corp., states "the Clayton #1H is the first horizontal well in the Gardner Lime formation drilled in Runnels County, Texas. We have learned from the issues encountered during the drilling of the Clayton #1H and will leverage this knowledge to exploit future horizontal wells. We are in the process of selecting additional drill locations and will announce them after initial flow rates of the Clayton #1H are reported."
