

Crystallex International Corporation: Updates Stakeholders

01.03.2016 | Marketwired

TORONTO, Mar 1, 2016 - Crystallex International Corporation (TSX VENTURE: KRY) awaits the final award of the arbitral tribunal constituted under the rules of the Additional Facility of the World Bank's International Centre for Settlement of Investment Disputes ("ICSID") to decide its $3.16 billion (plus interest) claim against the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela ("Venezuela") in relation to the unlawful expropriation of its investment in the Las Cristinas mining project pursuant to the Agreement between the Government of Canada and the Government of the Republic of Venezuela for the Promotion and Protection of Investments (the "Treaty"). The arbitral proceedings were formally closed in December 2015 following the completion of the parties' oral and written submissions in January 2015.

As a result of recent public announcements by Gold Reserve Inc. and Venezuelan government officials, Crystallex has become aware that Gold Reserve and Venezuela have entered into a memorandum of understanding that contemplates, among other things, a settlement of Gold Reserve's US$740.3 million ICSID award against Venezuela under the Treaty. Based on these public announcements, Crystallex understands that the agreement contemplates a joint venture to mine two properties: the Las Brisas property, which was the object of Gold Reserve's Treaty claim and award against Venezuela, and the Las Cristinas property which is the object of the Crystallex's arbitral claim. For the avoidance of doubt, Crystallex has not taken part in the negotiations between Gold Reserve and Venezuela, or any other negotiations with Venezuela with respect to its claim, and will receive no benefits under the agreement.

Venezuelan government officials -- including President Nicolas Maduro, President of Petróleos de Venezuela SA and Minister of Petroleum and Mines Eulogio Del Pino and Central Bank President Nelson Merentes -- have announced that the combined Brisas-Cristinas project contemplated in the memorandum of understanding with Gold Reserve is valued at US$5 billion.
