

Ladies and Gentlemen, honorable shareholders, as informed in autumn last year, the main goal of the management of NORTHWEST OIL & GAS TRADING COMPANY, INC. (NWO) is to establish a solid business providing long term sustainable revenues and earnings. We are working very hard to approach this. As further already informed, there are very strict confidentially agreements concerning the current activities of NWO, which are not allowing us to spread information.

But, because our shareholders are asking for an update about the ongoing business, we would like to give you these short interim report. Please note, that we very much would like to share more detailed information, but that we are very limited because of the avove mentioned confidentially agreements.

To date we are allowed to spread the following basic information:

a) Among other reasons, but especially because of the massive decreasing prices for crude oil, we decided that the development of our US oil fields are not in the current main focus of our activities.

b) During the last months we dedicated a lot of our man power and energy in the area "Smart Modular Refinery".

Especially in view of b) and by not harming the confidentially agreements, we are happy to inform you about promissing discussions of the company's delegation and of our CEO Michael Ende with the government of the Republic of Liberia.

General background information: Lots of nations have to face the problem, that they have access to significant amounts of crude oil, but having less capacities to refine their "own" crude oil to benzine, diesel, etc. Therefore this countries have to export cheap crude oil in other countries and then have to buy back and import high priced refined products. Further lots of potential refineries in this countries are out-of-date, inefficient, running unreliable and accident-prone. NWO's modern modular refineries can offer an extremely interesting solution to that countries.

Several nations recognized this advantage and contacted NWO. Obviously we are speaking about very huge and complex projects in which NWO have to work together with organizations, governments as well a consortium of partner companies.

We are also speaking about huge amounts of financial resources needed to develop such exciting projects. This part will be backed by BRIDGIN Foundation, who have as well the financial power as also a broad experience in such ventures.

And it has been BRIDGIN, who rated the technology from NWO as the absolutely best to fit the needs and to fulfil excellently all requirements. NWO becomes the provider for such kind of projects BRIDGIN will be in charge at the moment as in future. Understandably such kind of projects have to be handled strictly confidentially until coming to a certain point. We hope that we are allowed to provide more details mid of the year.
