

VANCOUVER, BRITISH COLUMBIA--(Marketwired - Sep 28, 2016) - Millennial Lithium Corp. (TSX VENTURE:ML), ("Millennial" or the "Company") would like to clarify certain disclosure made in its news release dated September 26, 2016. That news release stated:

"Millennial plans to apply its rapid development strategy to the Cauchari East Property. Pending government and community approvals, the Company will rapidly advance through geophysics to drilling in order to make a quick assessment of resources, and as warranted add Cauchari East as another production unit to the "pipeline" of their lithium production assets."

First, the wording "assessment of resources" is premature. There is no geological report outlining a resource on any of the Company's properties and they are not at an advanced exploration stage at which a resource, if any, could be delineated or calculated.

Secondly, the Company is not currently in production. Its properties are at an exploration stage and the outcome of further exploration, including any geophysics or drilling, and other factors as well as any feasibility study that may be undertaken will determine if production is feasible from any of its properties.

Thus, the Company wishes to amend its statement to more correctly read:

"Millennial plans to apply its rapid development strategy to the Cauchari East Property. Pending government and community approvals, the Company will advance through geophysics to drilling in order to make, in as short an amount of time as possible, an assessment of resource potential. As warranted, the Company plans on advancing the project through the necessary work and studies to estimate a resource and, if a resource can be proven, to determining if commercial production is feasible."

This news release has been reviewed by Iain Scarr, VP of Development and Exploration, of the Company and a qualified person as that term is defined in National Instrument 43-101.
