From the initial visit to the Z1 West property, it appears that the Z1 quarry operation is heading in a westerly direction towards Durango's claim boundary. According to the data available on BC mineral titles online, the centre of the Z1 mining lease lies within 800 metres of Durango's property line.

Due to forest fires and road closures in the Cache Creek area, the exploration crew has left the area and will return to complete additional work as soon as it is safe to do so.
