HOUSTON, Aug. 9, 2017 /PRNewswire/ -- Houston American Energy Corp. (NYSE MKT: HUSA), an exploration and development company operating in the Delaware Basin of West Texas, Louisiana and Colombia, announced today that John P. Boylan, the Company's President and CEO, will present at EnerCom's The Oil & Gas Conference on Wednesday, August 16, 2017 from 2:45-3:10 p.m. Mountain Time in Conference Room C. Mr. Boylan will discuss the Company's recent progress in the Permian's Delaware Basin.

In its 21st year, EnerCom's The Oil & Gas Conference is being held at The Westin Denver, August 13-17. For more information, please visit http://www.theoilandgasconference.com.

About Houston American Energy Corp.

Based in Houston, Texas, Houston American Energy Corp. is a publicly-traded independent energy company with interests in oil and natural gas wells, minerals and prospects. The Company's business strategy includes a property mix of producing and non-producing assets with a focus on the Permian (Delaware) Basin in Texas, Louisiana and Colombia.

For additional information, view the company's website at www.houstonamerican.com or contact Houston American Energy Corp. at (713) 222-6966 or Raymond Deacon at (917) 477-7800.

View original content:http://www.prnewswire.com/news-releases/houston-american-energy-corp-ceo-and-president-to-present-at-enercoms-the-o

SOURCE Houston American Energy Corp.