Canadian Malartic Mine - 3% NSR (East Malartic) (Fig. 1)

Agnico Eagle Mines Ltd. stated in its Q2 2017 news release (July 26, 2017) that exploration was ongoing to evaluate the potential to mine portions of the East Malartic deposit, which is located adjacent to the Canadian Malartic Mine. The Company's 3% net smelter royalty ("NSR") covers portions of the historic East Malartic Mine. Abitibi Royalties believes that the areas at East Malartic covered by its NSR include the deep portions of the respective Main/East Zones and the Porphyry Swarm, East Porphyry and Chert/Wedge Zone (Fig. 1). The latter three zones may straddle the southern property boundary of the Company's NSR at depth and the Chert/Wedge Zone along strike to the east. These zones are in addition to the Norrie Zone (for more information on Norrie please see news release - August 19, 2014).

Shareholders who are interested in learning about the historic East Malartic Mine, including previous production, an overview of the geology, different gold zones, exploration and historic estimates can access this information here (Report: Metallogeny of the East Malartic Gold Deposits, Quebec - Michael Issigonis, Travelling Professor, BUNTEP, Brandon University, Manitoba - 2006) and here (Report: Porphyry Swarm: The high grade gold - Michael Issigonis - 2017). Abitibi Royalties has not independently verified, and takes no responsibility for the contents contained within the report and the Company is supplying this for informational purposes only. Abitibi Royalties believes that in addition to the exploration success at Odyssey North, the portions of East Malartic contained within its 3% NSR could potentially become an important asset for the Company. Abitibi Royalties believes that East Malartic has both lower grade bulk tonnage and high-grade gold potential. The Company has no knowledge or information pertaining to whether the current drilling at East Malartic will include the areas covered by the Company's NSR. There can be no assurance that all or any of the zones contained in the reports lie within the portions covered by the Company's NSR as they have not been independently verified by Abitibi Royalties.
