"This is a unique alliance between a large operator and an intelligence company," said Sanjay Paranj, Anadarko Vice President, Advanced Analytics and Emerging Technologies. "For us, the term 'blended data' refers to the true integration of comprehensive, clean, analytics-ready data from RSEG with our own internal high-resolution data. With this partnership, Anadarko's Advanced Analytics and Emerging Technologies team is building leading-edge predictive models that integrate detailed subsurface interpretations with technical and economic analysis."

The collaborative nature of this partnership is distinctive, serving as an accelerator for both companies to develop solutions that address the biggest challenges facing industry today.

"Anadarko's strategic focus on analytics and innovation make them an ideal partner," said Manuj Nikhanj, RSEG President and co-CEO. "We worked closely with Anadarko to develop a customized experience that allows RSEG data, analytics and intelligence to integrate seamlessly into their daily workflows. Our alliance combines superior operatorship with the analytical support necessary to measure success, identify opportunities and support the critical decisions APC makes every day."

RS Energy Group (RSEG) delivers data driven intelligence to companies operating, servicing or investing in the energy market. Since 1998, RS Energy Group has directly influenced the direction that our clients steer and focus their business.
