SAN ANTONIO, TX / ACCESSWIRE / January 22, 2018 / Camber Energy Inc. (NYSE American: CEI) (the "Company" or "Camber"), based in San Antonio, Texas, a growth-oriented, independent oil and gas company engaged in the development of crude oil, natural gas and natural gas liquids, announced the closing of an acquisition in Oklahoma for a purchase price of $210,000.

The Company has acquired approximately 3,000 leasehold acres in Okfuskee County, Oklahoma, including two producing wells and 7 non-producing well bores. The acquisition also includes three salt water disposal wells, to support existing and potential future hydrocarbon production.

Camber is evaluating hydrocarbon production opportunities across all of the acquired acreage including the existing non-producing well bores. The Company is currently evaluating the non-producing well bores for workover opportunities. The Company plans to begin the process of reestablishing production from several of the non-producing well bores in the next few weeks.

Richard N. Azar II, the CEO of Camber noted that "This acquisition provides opportunities for the Company to increase its reserve base and cash flows from Hunton and other productive zones. We are actively pursuing workover activities and estimate that production from several of the non-producing well bores will be restored in the next few weeks."

Mr. Azar continued, "Camber is currently in the process of evaluating similar acquisitions intended to provide an inventory of lower risk opportunities to add to our reserve base and cash flow."
