

Uptick Newswire Hosts Aben Resources Ltd. CEO to Discuss the Major Finds from The Forrest Kerr Project as Well as Being Fully Funded for 2019

17.01.2019 | GlobeNewswire

PHOENIX, Jan. 17, 2019 - The Uptick Newswire Stock Day Podcast welcomed Aben Resources Ltd. (TSX-V: ABN) (OTCQB: ABNAF) (Frankfurt: E2L2) (Aben or The "Company"), which is a publicly traded Canadian gold exploration company in the country's Golden Triangle. President, Chief Executive Officer, and Director of Aben Resources, Jim Pettit, joined Stock Day's Everett Jolly.

Jolly started the interview by asking about the key drilling highlights from 2018 and asked Pettit where the company goes from here. Pettit said one of the key aspects is they started drilling early in the season and hit gold right away.

"We managed to follow up on the 2017 discovery holes where we hit a high-grade gold zone. What we did this past drill season is we drilled underneath it because it was open on all sides and at depth and we came in and it was stunning. 38 grams over 10 meters and 62 grams over 6 meters. Pretty spectacular stuff. So, that sparked the market and allowed us to go out and raise, immediately, $6 million."

Pettit explained that the Company managed to bring in Eric Sprott as a main investor. Sprott is a Canadian billionaire businessman, who Pettit describes as a bit of a legend in the gold industry. Pettit also says this enabled them to double their drilling program, last year, taking the figures from 5,000 meters of drilling to 10,000 meters of drilling.

"We've got a lot more targets to test," says Pettit. "One of the things this year that constrained us, it was difficult because we only had 9 drill pad locations approved, so you are stuck with those pad locations. We had applied for 40 more and as it turned out, once we had stopped drilling at the end of the season, we got our permits. The government had stopped issuing new permits because the fire season was so bad up there. It was a bit of a nuisance for us."

This year he says they now have 40 pad locations to work with and a variety of targets that they could not get to last year. Pettit also explained that their data shows they have at least 20 more areas on the Forrest Kerr property to test. Jolly then asked what we might know from the Forrest Kerr project in 2019.

"We are going to have a better understanding of what we are looking at," said Pettit. "A 3D model is being done right now and all of the data compilation from the season. We've got 45 holes now, so all of that analysis is there and it's going to get plotted."

Jolly then asked what are the plans for this year and if they have enough money in the coffers to go forward. Pettit said they raised $7 million last year, and they still have about $6.5 million.

"It paid all of 2018's work. We've got all of the money we need, we don't need to raise money at all." He went on to say, "We also have interest in our Yukon property, and we may put some cash up there."

Pettit said that revenues are off in the distance a bit; they are still in the discovery phase. However, he mentioned that the discovery phase is when the investors really start looking at you.

&ldquo;We have targets all over the property, we have lots of work ahead of us.&rdquo;
