East Africa shall grant Tibet Huayu a right of first refusal of reasonable duration to acquire future EAM’s Mineral Resources based on mutually agreeable terms similar to those defined by the current transaction.

Andrew Lee Smith, the Company’s CEO stated, “With the Project Financing approaching completion, the Mato Bula and Da Tambuk projects proceeding with the development stage is a historic milestone for the Company.”

About East Africa Metals

East Africa’s assets include four fully permitted, development-ready gold and base metal projects in Africa. Over the past seven years East Africa has been able to advance the Company’s exploration assets through the discovery phase, resource definition and permitting through to development phase at a pace that is seldom seen in emerging resource sectors. The performance of the exploration programs designed and implemented by East Africa are notable, not only due to short time-frame it has taken to achieve the milestone of this past week, but also by the extremely low discovery costs.
