Withdrawn Third Party Acquisition Proposal

On August 12, 2019, Cobalt 27 received an unsolicited, confidential, non-binding offer from a private streaming and royalty company (the "Potential Offeror"), pursuant to which the Potential Offeror had offered to acquire all of the issued and outstanding common shares of the Company by way of plan of arrangement for consideration per share comprised of C$4.00 in cash plus one share of Nickel 28 (collectively, the "Acquisition Proposal"). The Acquisition Proposal was expressly subject to, among other things, completion of confirmatory due diligence, approval of the board of directors of the Potential Offeror, and negotiation of a definitive arrangement agreement with Cobalt 27.

On August 13, 2019, the board of directors of Cobalt 27 (the "Cobalt 27 Board") and the independent special committee of the Cobalt 27 Board each met and determined, after consultation with their outside financial and legal advisors, that the Acquisition Proposal could reasonably be expected to lead to a Superior Proposal (as this term is defined in the arrangement agreement dated June 17, 2019 between Cobalt 27 and Pala). Subsequently, Cobalt 27 and the Potential Offeror entered into a confidentiality and standstill agreement, following which the Potential Offeror was provided with full access to Cobalt 27's dataroom (including the same information as provided to Pala) as well as the Company's professional advisors for purposes of evaluating and negotiating the terms of a potential alternative transaction.

After the close of trading on August 30, 2019, and after the Potential Offeror had been provided diligence information with respect to Cobalt 27, the Potential Offeror advised Cobalt 27 that its previous non-binding proposal had expired and that it would not be submitting any further proposal to Cobalt 27. The Potential Offeror attributed its decision to refrain from proceeding with a transaction to its own assessment of the risks of a transaction given recent events in Papua New Guinea (see "Update Regarding Nickel 28" below) and the unresolved business issues that the parties had been discussing in relation to a definitive agreement, which issues related to which party would bear the regulatory risks of a transaction (as compared to the terms and conditions of the Arrangement), and the means by which the Potential Offeror would have had to fund the termination fee that would have been payable to Pala in the event that the Potential Offeror had ultimately made a Superior Proposal. The Cobalt 27 Board has not made any change in its recommendation regarding the Arrangement and continues to unanimously recommend that shareholders vote in favour of the Arrangement with Pala.

Update Regarding Nickel 28

The Board of Cobalt 27 continues to believe that Nickel 28 should provide shareholders with attractive exposure to battery metal upside and the electric vehicle revolution. Since the Arrangement with Pala was announced on June 18, 2019 to August 30, 2019, the price of nickel has increased 51% from US$5.40 per lb to US$8.17 per lb. The outlook for nickel is also anticipated to be positively impacted by Indonesia's expected ban on exports of nickel ore to come into effect by year end.

Cobalt 27 also notes reports of an accidental waste discharge on August 24, 2019 at the Ramu nickel Basamak plant in Papua New Guinea which is operated by Metallurgical Corp. of China ("MCC"). Cobalt 27's subsidiary Highlands Pacific Limited holds an 8.56% joint venture interest in the Ramu mining and processing operations. Cobalt 27 understands that the discharge has been contained, has had a limited impact and that MCC is working with local authorities on appropriate remedial measures.
