

Presenting Company Line-Up Announced for EnerCom Dallas Energy Investment Conference, February 11-12, 2020

08.01.2020 | PR Newswire

EnerCom Conferences are where energy companies, industry leaders and capital providers talk 2020 plans

DENVER, Jan. 8, 2020 - Institutional investors, portfolio managers, financial analysts, CIOs and other capital market professionals who invest in the energy space should register now for the EnerCom Dallas energy investment conference, which is co-located at the Tower Club February 11-12 in downtown Dallas.

The EnerCom Dallas conference follows EnerCom's familiar 25-minute CEO presentation format, followed by 50-minute breakout sessions, opportunities in separate breakout rooms, one-on-one meeting opportunities for buy-side investors and sell-side research analysts, company management teams, networking opportunities and global insight delivered by leading energy economists and industry experts. The event also provides energy industry professionals a venue to learn about important energy topics affecting the global energy and gas industry. Key panel discussions include Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG), Capital Markets, LNG Landmark and Midstream.

New this year, the EnerCom Dallas conference is offering a unique session for energy related technology, alternative energy and traditional oil and gas start-up ventures to have the opportunity to present their business to a captive audience of investors. The event will provide invited presenters the opportunity to give a fifteen-minute presentation and participate in a Q&A. Investors can also schedule private one-on-one meetings with session participants at the Tower Club, Dallas.
