Flotation Pilot Plant

The proceeds from the FT Private Placement will be used to complete the flotation pilot plant on the Company's Wicheada rare earth element ("REE") project by the end of July 2020, with initial results expected in August 2020.

Defense Metals has reviewed and executed the Phase 2 flotation pilot plant proposal recommended by SGS Canada Inc. The objectives of pilot plant testing are to:

- Confirm metallurgy in a pilot plant environment;
- Generate data to support engineering; and
- Produce a large amount of concentrate for downstream hydrometallurgy testing.

The pilot plant will treat up to 30 tonnes of material in a continuous manner over 180 hours of operation, at an anticipated feed-rate of approximately 150 kg per hour. The approach will be to first commission the circuit in mid-June. This will be followed by a series of optimization runs through later June / early July. A continuous 48 hour run will serve to confirm metallurgy over extended operation in later July.
