New office to expand firm's business in Northwest Arkansas

BENTONVILLE, Aug. 16, 2021 - Michael Baker International, a global leader in engineering, planning and consulting services, announced today that Mike Stengel, P.E., is taking on a new leadership position within the firm's Gulf Coast Region as he leads the opening of a new office in Bentonville, Arkansas. As Vice President and Office Executive, Mr. Stengel will focus on managing the firm's relationship with the Arkansas Department of Transportation (ARDOT) and expanding its client roster. The addition of this new office supports the firm's focus on expanding its business in the high growth market of Northwest Arkansas.

"Mike has long been an invaluable part of the Michael Baker team, helping our company grow and succeed in multiple locations throughout the Gulf Coast Region. After leading our Little Rock, Arkansas, office for 13 years, Mike relocated to Dallas, Texas, in 2019, where he served as Vice President and Office Executive," said Juan Contreras, Gulf Coast Regional Director at Michael Baker International. "Mike's return to Arkansas will strengthen our ability to bring our firm's full spectrum of services to the Arkansas Department of Transportation and many other public and private entities, including major universities and retailers in the region."

Mr. Stengel has more than 26 years of experience, including 14 with Michael Baker, managing civil engineering, aviation and transportation design and construction projects. He is a well-known industry leader in Arkansas who has provided oversight and guidance for airport, roadway and bridge design teams, construction services and survey operations. As the firm's Office Executive in Little Rock from 2007-2019, he served as the Principal-In-Charge and led the team to ensure the successful completion of numerous ARDOT projects under on-call contracts, as well as projects for the City of Little Rock, City of Maumelle, Jonesboro Municipal Airport and numerous airside and landside projects at the Bill and Hillary Clinton National Airport.

Mr. Stengel holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Civil Engineering from the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville.
