Farwell Project (Cu and Au)

In September of 2022 the Company contracted Scott Hogg and Associates Geophysical Consultants of Toronto to provide an interpretive report including recommended drill targets for consideration by Bold's technical team. This effort was initiated from the completion of a Geotech Ltd. Airborne Versatile Time Domain Electromagnetic and Magnetic (VTEM) survey over the Farwell property near Wawa, Ontario, in January of 2022. A compilation of historical work provided by Bold and results from the VTEM survey were used to provide the interpretation. Four high priority diamond drilling targets were identified at the Farwell Sulphide Zone within the south-central portion of the property and two additional target sites were recommended at the Tundra Gold Horizon to the east. These recommendations will be part of the company's program planning in upcoming exploration work. A copy of the report is posted on the Bold Website here.

The technical information found within this news release and the subject VTEM interpretive report have been reviewed and approved by Gerald D. White, B.Sc., P.Geo., a qualified person (QP) for the purposes of NI 43-101.
