"The overwhelming shareholder support solidifies the alignment of the Copper Mountain mine with Hudbay's strategic assets and objectives and the combined company is well-positioned to create meaningful value for all shareholders," said Peter Kujala, President and Chief Executive Officer of Hudbay. Gil Clausen, President and Chief Executive Officer of Copper Mountain added to this sentiment saying, "We are pleased with the strong endorsement by the company's shareholders indicating widespread support for the future of the combined company".

Transaction Highlights

The combination of Hudbay and Copper Mountain is on-strategy with strong industrial logic that will offer both sets of shareholders compelling benefits, as highlighted below:

- Scale - A larger-scale platform with three long-life operating mines with exploration and expansion upside, three large development projects and one of the largest mineral resource bases among intermediate copper producers;
- Diversification - A geographically balanced portfolio in tier-one mining jurisdictions with approximately 55% of net assets ("NAV") estimated to be from North American assets and 45% of NAV estimated to be from South American assets;
- Copper-Focused - A copper-focused portfolio with expected 2023 copper production of more than 150,000 tonnes, in the second quartile position on the copper cost curveⁱⁱ, complemented by meaningful gold production;

- Efficiencies - An estimated US$30 millionⁱⁱⁱ per year of operating efficiencies and corporate synergies, including approximately US$20 million per year from operating cost reductions through the application of Hudbay's operating efficiency program at the Copper Mountain mine;
- Deleveraging - Well-positioned for accelerated deleveraging in the near-term from increased diversification of cash flows and enhanced exposure to rising copper prices;
- Capital Allocation - An ability to maximize value from a larger organic growth pipeline by more efficiently allocating capital to projects that yield the highest risk-adjusted returns; the combined company's greater cash flow generation and stronger balance sheet will enhance the ability to advance brownfield expansion opportunities and prudently develop Hudbay's Copper Mountain project in Arizona, which will deliver meaningful growth to the combined company; and
- Valuation Re-rating Potential - The strategic and financial benefits from the Transaction ultimately position the combined company for a valuation re-rating.

Transaction Effective Date

In addition to shareholder approvals received, the Transaction is subject to final court approval and the satisfaction of customary closing conditions for transactions of this nature. The Toronto Stock Exchange has conditionally approved the issuance of Hudbay common shares to be issued in connection with the Transaction, and the requisite regulatory approval for the Transaction under the Competition Act (Canada) has been obtained. It is currently anticipated that the effective date of the Transaction will occur on or about June 20, 2023.

As of the effective date, each Copper Mountain shareholder (other than any dissenting Copper Mountain shareholders) will receive 0.381 of a Hudbay share for each Copper Mountain share or Copper Mountain CDI held. As a result of the Transaction, Copper Mountain will become a wholly-owned subsidiary of Hudbay.
