Gernot has a deep understanding of orogenic gold deposits, their economic potential and modern exploration techniques. He has had significant experience and success working in greenstone geological settings similar to those found at Gold Line's projects. Having previously worked closely together with Gernot before I am excited to now bring him on at Gold Line. In my opinion, he is one of the top exploration minds in our sector. His impressive profile adds to our already strong and experienced geological team here and is highly encouraging for the future of our promising project portfolio."
