

BHP donates $500,000 to Saskatoon Food Bank & Learning Centre's Plant Possibility Campaign to help meet growing need

SASKATOON, March 19, 2024 - BHP and the Saskatoon Food Bank and Learning Centre (SFBLC) are pleased to announce a $500,000 donation from BHP to SFBLC's Plant Possibility Campaign. The donation will support a new food warehouse and learning campus, as the SFBLC expands to meet the city's increasing need for safe, affordable and nutritious food. Poverty and hunger are overwhelming realities for the people turning to the SFBLC each month. In the last ten years, Saskatoon's food bank has increased from 12,000 to as many as 23,000 people served each month, 40 per cent of which are children.

SFBLC currently operates out of inefficient, aging buildings that require expensive upgrades to operate more effectively. Patch-work repairs have been made over recent years, but SFBLC can no longer delay the need to find a new and functional home and have turned to the community to help raise the funds for an expanded space and purpose-built operations tailored to the communities' needs.

BHP's half a million-dollar investment will help the SFBLC to transform the model of service delivery in our community. It will go towards optimizing operations, increase the quality and quantity of healthy foods available, expand food distribution and allow the SFBLC to serve all 36 food banks in the province.

"BHP's investment will have a transformative impact, today and tomorrow by ensuring hungry people will be fed," said Laurie O'Connor, Executive Director of SFBLC. "Together we are shifting what is possible, and we thank you for your belief in what we do and for your support - a true reflection of the spirit, resilience, and values of Saskatchewan people."

"We've all felt the rising costs of living, and the Saskatoon Food Bank & Learning Centre provides important access to healthy, nutritious food and vital support services that help people get back on their feet, allowing them to not only survive, but thrive," said Karina Gistelinck, Asset President Potash. "Through our investment, BHP is thrilled to support the new food warehouse as well as innovative employment and nutritional education programs that support long-term positive outcomes."

Since 2015, BHP has contributed over $50 million to community organizations and initiatives in Saskatchewan. These contributions are driven by BHP's fundamental belief that success is achieved through community partnerships that create lasting mutual benefit.
