PGS advances seismic data interpretation capability through a collaboration agreement with Onward, an Austin-based energy innovation platform.

PGS is pleased to announce a collaboration that facilitates on-demand data interpretation provided by Onward, which leverages Onward's technical capabilities to enhance PGS' existing MultiClient and Data OnDemand services and accelerate interpretation workflows.

The collaboration between Onward and PGS gives subscribers of PGS' OnDemand services the option to access Onward's interpretation services and unlock the subsurface potential of extensive seismic data sets. PGS subscribers that engage Onward's additional services will have access to Onward's global community of geoscience and data science experts who leverage industry-leading analysis tools in a cloud-based environment (subject to certain conditions). This integration taps into a strong breadth of expertise, to ensure best-in-class interpretation and improve subsurface decision-making capabilities.

Nathan Oliver, EVP Sales & Services at PGS commented "As our industry evolves, we remain committed to deploying innovative business models and expertise to enhance our clients' decision-making effectiveness and ultimately their success rates."

Jeff Allyn, CEO at Onward commented "Onward's innovative approach leverages a global community of geoscience and data science experts to rapidly extract the value from seismic data. Our service, directly linked to PGS' Data OnDemand, allows our clients to receive high-quality interpretations to accelerate their workflows and enhance decision-making accuracy."
