- Soma produced 6,590 AuEq ounces in Q2-2024 and 13,925 AuEq ounces in the six months ended June 30, 2024 (compared to 15,693 AuEq ounces in H1-2023).

The Company successfully completed a major maintenance shutdown of the El Bagre Mill in the second quarter, including the ball mill. The mill was shut down for eight days in June, significantly impacting the ounces produced in the month. The Company's shift to a conventional mining focus has resulted in a higher proportion of development costs being expensed than capitalized, with approximately $1.1 million less capitalized in Q2-2024 compared to the average of the previous three years.

Outlook for the Balance of 2024

- Continue exploration of the expanded property package along the Otu fault to increase resources and identify the potential for additional gold resources at the Company's Antioquia properties.
- Further expand and commence mining in the high-grade zone of Upper Cordero, as highlighted in the News Release dated August 16, 2024.
- Complete the restoration, cleaning and permitting of the Machuca mine, with production set to begin at the start of 2025.
- Finalize the mine plan and permit application for the Nechi mine to increase feed for the el Limon and El Bagre mill operations at Nechi are expected to commence by 2026.
- Continue advancing the formalization process for small miners working on the Company's concessions, aiming to increase ounces produced by 10%.
- Evaluate additional strategic additions to the Company's concession package, focusing on trends identified through the exploration program.
- Commence the drilling program using the newly acquired underground drill to confirm the extension of the Cordero mill depth, thereby increasing the resource and Life of Mine.

Geoff Hampson, Soma's President and CEO, states, "The transition to conventional mining methods continued in Q2, with Company was mining zones with lower-than-historical average grade and containing a series of faults and dykes, increasing costs per ounce. This transition is largely complete, and we anticipate mining the higher-grade zones in Upper Cordero in the Soma News Release dated July 16, 2023) to commence by the end of Q3. For the balance of 2024 and into 2025, a combination of higher grades, reduced development and waste rock and an increase in the number of stopes, which will contribute to a strong finish for the year." Hampson also states, "Our exploration team has made significant progress in advancing high-priority exploration targets near the Machuca Mine. The results of mapping, soil sampling, stream sediment analysis and rock sampling inside several of the small mines along the trend indicate the potential for a larger and higher-grade deposit. Drilling on these targets will begin in Q4. We are optimistic that these discoveries can potentially lead to an increase in mineable reserves, enhancing the feed for our two mills and possibly justifying the fully permitted mill expansion."
