The Luonyang Kai Xing Commerce Co., Ltd., of Dongcheng Community, Luoning County, Henan Province, China collected and analyzed samples from WGM and, subsequently, offered to purchase the 200 tons of concentrate from the first 5,000-ton bulk sample announced by Muzhu in its news release dated December 13, 2024. Luonyang Kai Xing Commerce Co. Ltd has issued Muzhu a ¥200,000.00 RMB refundable deposit.

The historical F12 vein was exposed after excavating a new portal and drifting 70m. The bulk sample will be sent to the Luoning County Jun De Hong Yu flotation mill for processing. The mill, shown on the map above, is approximately 10 km from the Wulonggou Mine and has a 1000 tpd capacity.

The F12 is one of several veins in the WLG Gold Mine mineralized structure. Three of these currently identified veins are still being worked on, but production from the F12 vein ceased in 1999 when a provincial highway was constructed, and the mine entrance was deemed too close to the proposed highway.
