Neil Woodyer, CEO of Aris Mining, commented "Looking ahead to 2025, we expect total gold production of between 230,000 to 275,000 ounces as we begin to realize growth from our expansion projects. At Segovia, the processing facility's capacity has been expanded by 50% to 3,000 tonnes per day (tpd). Construction remains on track for completion in Q1 2025, with commissioning scheduled for Q2 2025. The mill feed rate is expected to increase gradually during the second half of 2025, rising from 2,000 tpd to the full 3,000 tpd by year-end. Meanwhile, construction of the Marmato Lower Mine continues to progress, with combined production from the Upper and Lower Mines expected to ramp up in 2026.

As of December 31, 2024, we hold US$253 million of cash, providing strong funding for these projects. Following project completion and ramp up, we are targeting annual gold production of approximately 500,000 ounces. Additionally, we are pursuing key strategic priorities, including environmental and technical studies at the top-tier Soto Norte gold-copper project. Results from these studies are expected in mid-2025. Aris Mining is well positioned for both near and long-term growth and value creation.

¹ On October 7, 2024, Aris Mining announced it was targeting gold production of between 185,000 to 195,000 ounces in 2024 from the Segovia Operations and leaving 2024 production guidance for the Marmato Upper Mine unchanged at 20,000 - 25,000 ounces.

2025 Gold Production and AISC Guidance:

For the Owner Mining segment, AISC² per ounce sold is expected to range between $1,450 and $1,600³ and the segment is expected to achieve an AISC² sales margin of 35% to 40%.
