

Contango Ore Inc. Amends Repayment Schedule for Credit Facility, Announces Start of First Manh Choh Gold Campaign of 2025

18.02.2025 | CNW

Contango Ore Inc. ("Contango" or the "Company") (NYSE American: CTGO) is pleased to announce that it has amended its credit facility (the "Facility") to defer $10.6 million ("M") of principal repayments and delivery of 15,000 hedged gold ounces into the first half of 2027 (the "New Repayment Schedule") and extend the maturity date of the Facility from December 31, 2026 to June 30, 2027. All other key terms of the Facility, including the interest rate, remain the same.

The Company anticipates that the revised delivery schedule for the gold hedge contracts will result in the Company having exposure to spot gold prices on approximately 30% of net production volumes for both 2025 and 2026, 80% of net production volumes for 2027 and 100% thereafter. Based on the current Life-of-Mine ("LOM") plan provided by the Peak Gold JV (the "PGJV") and using a $2,500 spot gold price, the Company anticipates that its 30% share of projected PGJV cash flows following the repayment of all debt and hedge deliveries will be approximately $80M in 2027 (inclusive of 15,000 ounces of gold hedges to be delivered into in the first half of 2027) and $70M in 2028.

In addition, the Company is pleased to announce that the PGJV commenced its first gold production campaign of the year on February 7, 2025. Contango estimates that its share of gold production from this campaign will be between 15,000 and 18,000 ounces of gold. The PGJV continues to truck ore from the Manh Choh mine site to the Fort Knox processing facility on schedule.

Rick Van Nieuwenhuyse, the Company's President and CEO said, "We are very pleased with the extension of the maturity date for the Facility to mid-2027 to better align the New Repayment Schedule with the extended ore haul plan into 2029. The New Repayment Schedule will provide us with sufficient flexibility to continue to repay our debt and deliver into our hedge contracts while still leaving significant exposure to increased gold prices. This will allow the Company to realize strong cash flows from the remaining mine life for Manh Choh as well as continue critical permitting at the Johnson Tract project and advancing discussions to identify appropriate milling facilities for processing Johnson Tract and Lucky Shot ores. At current gold prices near $2,900 per ounce, Contango expects to generate significantly better free cash flows than the anticipated $70M for 2027 and $80M 2028 discussed above, which were based on a $2,500 gold price. The PGJV, operated by KG Mining Alaska, Inc. ("Kinross"), continues to pursue a number of initiatives to reduce costs and improve overall performance of operations, including ways to reduce moisture content in the ore and reduce ice, snow and mud build-up accumulated during the ore haul, which we expect to positively impact profitability moving forward. With the first campaign of 2025 having started and gold prices achieving new highs, we are confident that the Company remains on solid footing."

Mr. Van Nieuwenhuyse continued, "We are also pleased with the progress made to date on the previously announced preliminary economic assessment (the "PEA") on the Johnson Tract project. We expect the PEA to be completed and released in March 2025."
