

Metalex Ventures Ltd. Intersects Sulphides With Drilling At B3 Claim Block In Quebec

23.06.2025 | CNW

Metalex Ventures Ltd. (TSXV: MTX) (the "Company") is pleased to provide an update on the drilling at its 100% owned B3 claim block in Quebec testing promising geophysical anomalies.

Claim Block B3

At target O the Company has completed three holes testing a steeply-dipping, wide conductive zone associated with the northeast contact of a strong magnetic anomaly.

Two of these holes intersected sulphides within a magmatic gneiss. The sulphides are predominantly pyrite and pyrrhotite with traces of arsenopyrite.

Initial photos of some of the core from these intervals are set out below along with selected enlargements. These photos will be posted to Metalex's website (<https://metalexventures.com/quebec-property/>). Note that it is too early to determine whether the orientation of the sulphides and as such the intervals mentioned are core lengths rather than true widths.

Hole QC-B3-25-005 was drilled at a -45 degree dip and intersected sulphides from 41.45m to 61.26m. Photos from this hole are presented below.

Hole QC-B3-25-006 was drilled at a -65 degree dip from the same collar as QC-B3-25-005. Sulphides were intersected from 41.76m to 58.52m. Photos from this hole are presented below.

Hole QC-B3-25-007 was drilled vertically, and did not encounter the same sulphides as the two holes above.

The 24,322 hectare B3 claim block was staked due to anomalous copper-nickel-cobalt and gold results of the Company's regional heavy mineral sampling program. Metalex has undertaken a VTEM and magnetic airborne geophysical survey over its B3 claim block by Geotech Ltd. The location of the claim block is shown in Map 1.

The technical information and results reported here have been approved by Mr. Chad Ulansky P.Geo., President and CEO of the Company and a Qualified Person under National Instrument 43-101, who is responsible for the technical content of this release.
