This listing reflects growing investor interest in gold exploration companies from Europe, particularly Germany where there is a long history of investing in exploration companies. This listing is expected to expand the Company's access to European capital markets, while increasing the liquidity and visibility of the Company's shares among an expanded international investor audience, including both institutional and retail investors across Germany and the broader German-speaking European market. We view this as a natural extension of our North American listings and is a foundation for long-term engagement with potential European shareholders."

The Frankfurt Stock Exchange is the largest of the seven stock exchanges in Germany and Europe's third largest exchange. The new listing helps facilitate the purchase and trading of the Company's shares for European investors with low transaction costs.
